

Will it work on my mobile?

To take advantage of Nomad™, you'll need a JAVA enabled mobile phone. It's highly likely that your phone will have this functionality. Most phones now launched in the UK are JAVA enabled. Check that phone has a 4-way navigation key (left, right, up and down arrows) or a small joystick.

Nomad™ is downloaded to your phone via GPRS (internet connection). Most handsets are GPRS enabled, but it may be worth checking with your service provider beforehand.

Nomad™ can be used if you have either a contract or 'pay as you go' tariff.

What is NOMAD™?

Chiltern Railways and Laborotech bring you Nomad™, a revolutionary service that enables you to store Chiltern Railways' train timetables within your mobile phone and gives you so much more.

From your handset you can find out:

- Real-time departure information
- Ticket office opening hours
- Onward travel options, bus and taxi facilities

All the information plus lots more at the push of a button. It's QUICK, it's EASY and it's FREE

Access real-time and station information using your mobile phone any time, anywhere, Nomad™ gives you the ability to be in control of your time.

How can I get NOMAD™?

It's easy! Please use our useful detachable guide, which will enable you to download Nomad™ and a timetable to your mobile phone.

Is it really free?

The Nomad™ service is totally free! Your mobile service provider will only charge you about 10 pence to download the timetable reader and the timetables, and you'll only have to do that once.

From then on you can check your timetable as many times as you like completely free of charge. If you want real-time travel information*, perhaps to confirm that your train is departing on time, it will cost you less than a penny each time.

You may find that the cost is already included in your monthly mobile contract. Contact your service provider to confirm. There are no contracts or hidden charges. If you don't use the update facility and use only your timetable, you pay nothing at all!

There are no contracts or hidden charges, if you don't want updates – don't press the update button

* Information displayed is taken from National Rail Enquiries' live departure boards

 Data charges may vary slightly depending on service provider.
